MODEL

Partner-first SaaS

Your AI is fluent — and often wrong — about your own company.

Mid-market teams adopted AI faster than they organized for it.

THE GAP

What's written vs. what's real

Assistants answer confidently about internal processes, policies, and decisions — but no one curated the ground truth, and what's documented rarely matches how the company actually runs.

THE COST

Where trust quietly breaks

Every confident-but-wrong answer chips away at trust in the tools you've already paid for. The gap between the documented and the real is the failure point — and it's invisible until it bites.

A governed source of truth your AI can run on.

RunOil doesn't replace your tools. It makes them trustworthy.

It captures how your company truly works, reconciles it against what's documented and what staff actually live, governs it, and publishes one verified source into the AI tools you already use.

CAPTURE

Truth that lives in no document

Guided discovery surfaces the real processes, decisions, and friction that never make it into a file.

RECONCILE

Three views, one truth

What leadership believes, what staff live, and what the documents claim — triangulated, every gap flagged.

Model-neutral by design

One verified source feeds every AI tool through open standards. You're never locked to a vendor.

Capture, reconcile, govern — then publish to whatever you run.

Three movements turn how your company really operates into truth your AI can trust.

01

Capture

Recorded, coaching-style discovery sessions with leaders and staff, guided on-screen so nothing important is missed.

02

Reconcile

RunOil triangulates the stated, the lived, and the documented — and flags every gap for review.

03

Govern & publish

Verified truth becomes a living, governed source that feeds your AI tools through open standards.

Reality Gap — procurement approval

Leadership and policy expect two approvers above $5k. In practice, most orders are single-approved under deadline pressure — confirmed across discovery sessions and the ERP export. That delta is the signature output retrieval tools can't produce.

Four ideas the whole product turns on.

Consistent language is itself a trust signal — these terms are canonical.

ATOMIC TRUTH

The verified unit

One typed, sourced, owned fact about how the company works — Process, Decision, Friction, Open Loop, Ownership, or Definition-of-Done.

CORPUS

The system of record

The living, governed body of Atomic Truths. Plain-text, versioned, AI-organized — always inspectable, never a black box.

REALITY GAP

The signature output

The delta between what leadership states, what staff live, and what the documents claim — every gap surfaced and owned.

THE GUIDE

How truth is captured

The coaching-oriented assistant that runs discovery sessions — a teleprompter for objectives, not a script.

Built like infrastructure, not like a feature.

RunOil's defensibility compounds the way an ERP's does — through what accumulates, not what it does on day one.

01

System of record

As every AI tool pulls truth from the Corpus, leaving becomes organ failure. The core moat.

02

Configuration

Schema, authority, conflict rules, and resolved gaps — company-specific and non-transferable.

03

Audit & governance

The record of what truth was approved and surfaced, by whom, when. A compliance moat with a tailwind.

04

Switching cost

Git-backed truth that remembers how it evolved. The longer it runs, the more irreplaceable.

Partners are the front line. RunOil is the engine.

Independent implementation partners find, deliver, and own the client relationship; RunOil provides the SaaS and the system of record.

RUNOIL – THE SAAS

The Atomic Truth Engine

A high-value subscription that captures, reconciles, governs, and publishes the Corpus. The end company subscribes directly and owns its Corpus.

PARTNERS – THE FRONT LINE

Keep 100% of their billables

Partners set their own pricing and keep all of their services revenue. RunOil pays a referral commission for introductions and takes no cut of partner work.

THE RULE THAT MAKES IT SAFE

The truth belongs to the client.

Partners are not resellers — they introduce and implement. The subscription, the renewal, and the Corpus stay with RunOil no matter which partner is in the room, so the relationship can never be held hostage.

Sequenced for a company of one.

Capture first, because everything downstream needs truth to run on.

01

Wedge / MVP

The Guide, the Atomic Truth model, the Corpus, Reality-Gap reconciliation, and single-model publishing. Founder runs sessions on design partners.

02

Configuration & governance

Functional-user configuration with opinionated templates; document ingestion and flagging; the review queue.

03

Channel

Consultant registry, referral mechanics, partner onboarding; a second model when a paying client needs it.

04

Scale

AI-usage governance, analytics, certification and tiers, and the app ecosystem.

THE PROMISE
